SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3.

The difficulty of settling the disturbance that has broken out in Northern Turkey is daily increasing. It may be true that the union of Roumelia and Bulgaria lacks foundation in international law, but then the same remark might have been made a few years ago of that great empire in Central Europe which Bismarck has succeeded in founding. Already the contagion has spread beyond the border of Roumelia, and in Macedonia, old Serbia, Greece and the Kingdom of Servia efforts are being made to begin the plunder of the estate of the proverbial "sick man." It may be said that the great powers of Europe will prevent a war-like outbreak so well calculated to disturb the peace of entire Europe; but when a movement has been secretly encouraged, it is sometimes difficult to suppress it after it has taken definite shape. King Milan asserts that he may be compelled to give his aid to the rebels against the Sultan, or otherwise lose his crown, and, although public opinion in Russia would not again force the Czar to go to war with Turkey, it might be sufficiently powerful to prevent him taking part in a movement having for its object the placing of the Roumelians again under control of the Sultan.

FITZ JOHN PORTER, in the October number of the North American Review, in view of recent strikes or riots, discusses the question how mobs should be suppressed. He says:

"Mobs are cowards at first. Crime always enervates. They only gain courage as they find that those whose duty it is to suppress them are themselves cowards. A mob is not to be feared when it is first aroused. It is only as its passion for carnage is whetted by the taste of blood, or its greed for pillage is gratified, that it becomes dangerous.

"Upon whomsoever devolves the duty of suppression, let this be his first effort, check at the very beginning; allow no tumultuous gatherings; permit no delay; a few stern, resolute words; if these be not heeded, then strike resolutely, boldly; let there be no hesitation; if necessary, take life at the outset. It will be more merciful to take one life than to suffer the mob to take the lives of many, or to be compelled to sacrifice the innocent with the guilty at the point of the bayonet, or in the discharge of musketry or cannon. But the necessity to take life will not arise unless there be inactivity and indecision at the outset on the part of the authorities.

"Before the time shall come when it will be necessary to use musketry or bayonet, the opportunity will be afforded to suppress the riot; perhaps at the sacrifice of a few broken heads, or by the imprisonment of some of its leaders.

"In every large city, in fact in every city where a police force is employed, a perfect drill should prepare policemen to meet the exigencies arising from any tumultuous assemblage of the people, so that, at a moment's warning, these conservators of the peace will be ready to act, and to act understandingly and promptly. It will be found that a few determined policemen, placed in the field at a moment's notice, will prove one of the best and most direct methods of quelling mobs. These, by skillful maneuver, can take a mob in flank, or in rear, or in front, if necessary, and so employ themselves and their clubs that almost before the mob would know what was impending they would be driven from the field of action. The drilling, advised to be used with policemen, can also be used to excellent advantage with the militia of every State, so that in case of emergency they can be used with as good effect as policemen. It has often been found, in the history of the riots of this country, that when the soldiery have been brought in the face of a mob, even the officers were so unacquainted with their duties as to evince the most ridiculous ignorance of what was required of them and of their men in the exigency;

and they and their troops have been driven ignominiously from the field. They would have known what to do without hesitation, had they been in the face of an enemy; but, surrounded as they were by a frantic mob, they failed—and for lack of the necessary drilling.

"In the draft of 1863, after the mob had had full possession of the city of New York for several days, and the United States troops had been called in with little or no effect, and the State militia had failed, the police of the city, by their bold, brave, and indefatigable action, quelled the riot and prevented any further disorder. It was a remarkable instance of what can be done by a drilled organization. Since that time no riot could by any possibility have occurred in that great city. The police force of New York are ready to act in any emergency; and it is very doubtful whether it would be necessary to call in the aid of the State troops, or of the United States forces, in case a riot were threatened. Governor Seymour, in a proclamation made just after this riot, gave due credit to the police force, fully appreciating their magnificent services. Let it be known in every large town and city throughout the land, that the police force is constantly under control and discipline, ready promptly to perform its whole duty in case of any riotous action, and there will be an end of these turbulent assemblages."

THE NECESSITY PARK HOUSE!

FOR THE SPECIALISTS.

DR. WAGNER & CO.

We offer no apology for devoting so much time and attention to this much-neglected class of diseases, believing that no condition of humanity is too wretched to merit the sympathy and best services of the profession to which we belong, as many are unconscious sufferers, and that the physician who devotes himself to relieving the afflicted and saving them from worse than death, is no less a philanthropist and a benefactor to his race than the surgeon or physician who by close application excels in any other branch of his profession. And, fortunately for humanity, the day is dawning when the false philanthropy that condemned the victims of folly or crime, like the lepers under the Jewish law, to die uncurd for, has passed away.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity.
Dr. Wagner will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind and character which he undertakes to and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN

There are many at the age of 30 to 50 who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposit aropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin, milky blue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genital under any circumstances.
